

shell
is an utility software that is installed ontop of the linux kernel.
It provides simple commands/instructions that can be easily memorized and used. So that we can avoid writing complex programming instructions in performing operations on the computer.

ls -> shell -> (kernal program) -> kernel (os)